

WANDERING

Some will use a wardrobe, some a looking glass some will find a train platform allowing them to pass.
Some use ruby slippers, some a magic wand others special phone booths to reach a world beyond.

But those who've tried these portals have said they're unreliable they never know where they'll be sent and sometimes don't know where they went.
Although they strongly recommend them, I myself cannot defend them they're not really viable for most of us mere mortals.

What these intrepid travellers don't seem to realise is all you really have to do is stop and close your eyes